NOTE: Some stations ref. £, #, ## may not have been served by passenger trains.

Former or alternative (+) names: [] Distances in kilometres. Gauges: as noted.

All points shown served by passenger trains unless: () or noted.

Construction of a 0.60m gauge military railway system started in 1911. Commercial passenger services commenced in 1915. It was progressively replaced by the standard gauge system mainly on different alignments from 1926 onwards (some lines were not replaced). Virtually all 0.60m and 4' 8½" gauge stations of the same name were on different sites.
